If Carrie Nation could get a whack at the "prophet," she no doubt would make the fur fly.

The sheriff has seized the chariot of Elijah II, so we needn't look for him to go up just yet awhile, says the Atlanta Journal.

The Washington Post says a score or more of Coxey's army are employed as mule whackers on the banks of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal.

Georgia has managed to pull off the marriage of a United States senator without a breach of promise suit attachment, says the Augusta Chronicle.

Kansas City Star: A Denver woman advertises that her husband has left her, taking their two children and the hired girl. And domestic servants are terribly scarce, too!

Although he is receiving a good "roasting" at the hands of the State press for some of his rulings in the late Haywood murder trial at Raleigh, Judge Peebles is keeping remarkably quiet. This is well, after all.

The Herald says that Durham county is now spending upwards of $25,000 a year in building macadam roads and about ten miles of good roads are completed annually. New Hanover is doing good work along this line also.

Cashier Dewey is a slick duck. As he has not made known his whereabouts, it is now thought that he wrote his letter saying that he intended to surrender only for the purpose of having the $4,000 reward withdrawn so that he could easily skip out.

Conroe (Texas) Courier: Now, don't tell us again that there is no efficacy in prayer. A Kentucky man was about to be lynched by an Ohio mob, but was given time to pray, and while engaged in that pious duty he was rescued by the sheriff.

Carrie Nation has sent a second letter to Dowie, challenging him to prove his assertion that he is Elijah III, and declaring, if he would accept her challenge to debate his declaration in public, she would pay for the hall and give him $500. Carrie says the self-styled "Elijah" is a fraud and a dreadful liar. Dowie has not replied to either of the two letters.

A VERDICT FOR $800.

Creech Damage Suit in the Superior Court Was Ended Last Night.

JURY WAS OUT FIVE HOURS.

Two Weeks' Term Expired by Limitation Last Midnight—Several Cases Compromised — Winding Up Odds and Ends—Proceedings.

After having remained out from shortly before 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon until 9:15 o'clock last night, the jury in the Superior Court which had in hearing the $35,000 damage suit brought by Miss Mortie L. Creech against the Wilmington Cotton Mills, announced to the bailiff in charge that an agreement had been reached and a few minutes later returned a verdict to the clerk, awarding the plaintiff $800 damages. The answer to the first issue as to the liability of the mill for the injury, was answered in the affirmative; the second as to whether the plaintiff by her own negligence to the injury, was made in the negative, and the third as to the amount, was answered by giving the plaintiff the sum named.

The case occupied nearly another entire day in the court yesterday. Upon the convening of the session Iredell Meares, Esq., addressed the jury for about an hour for the defendant and he was followed in their order by Cameron F. MacRae and Brooke G. Empie, Esqs., for the same side. Hon. Jno. D. Bellamy closed the argument with a strong appeal for the plaintiff. Judge Brown's charge was regarded as very comprehensive and fair to both sides. The jury retired and at 6 o'clock was taken to supper by Deputy Sheriff William Sheehan. At 8 o'clock Judge Brown returned to the Court House for the purpose of hearing a few motions incident to a close of the term, and while there, by request of the jury, he re-read to them certain portions of his charge given in the afternoon. The jury again retired and about an hour and a half later returned the verdict as stated.

The jury which had the case in hearing was composed as follows: W. P. McGloughon, Jno. R. Hanby, J. V. Gurley, R. A. Brown, B. B. Humphrey, H. A. Melvin, B. N. Bowden, A. Townsend, C. F. W. Rehder, C. D. Sykes, George Haar and T. W. Wood. It is learned that the verdict of $800 was a compromise between certain members of the jury who desired to award the plaintiff $1,000 and others who held out for only $600.

It is presumed that the case will go to the Supreme Court.

The term of court expired by limitation last midnight. The following unimportant judgments and orders were made during the day, aside from the case of the Armour Packing Co., which is published in full in another column:

Geo. A. Croft and wife vs. Graham Daves, trustee of Ann F. McLean, Harriet C. Daniel, Cyrus S. VanAmringe, Fanny VanAmringe, Edward Everett and wife, Emma Burr Everett, and Edward Everett, Jr.; upon motion of Herbert McMcClammy, Esq., ordered that judgment be in favor of plaintiff for lands on Wrightsville.

J. H. Sharpe, assignee, vs. W. E. Mayo, judgment for non suit.

Ned Glavin vs. E. J. Flanagan; non suit.

Jos. S. Sneeden vs. C. R., L. & P. Co.; motion for new trial; motion denied and case appealed to Supreme Court.

Chesnut & Barrentine vs. F. H. Blodgett, dismissed upon motion of Jno. D. Bellamy, counsel for plaintiff.

J. A. Pullen vs. F. H. Blodgett, same judgment as above.

Tony Walters vs. George Walters; plaintiff allowed to withdraw original and file amended complaint.

Edward Wootten et al. vs. Wilmington & Weldon Railroad Co., case dismissed upon motion of Jno. D. Bellamy, counsel for plaintiff case having been compromised and settled.

Owen Martindale vs. Joseph Albro and wife; judgment for plaintiff.

BIG CITY CONTRACTS.

Coal Cement and Supply Company Awarded the Market Street Paving.

THE QUARRY IN OPERATION.

Extensive Drainage System Will be Laid by Contractor W. E. Glenn---Committee in Session---Macadam Work on Second Street.

The Streets and Wharves Committee, composed of Mayor Springer and Aldermen W. H. Yopp and Jno. H. Sweeney, met last night at the City Hall and awarded the contract for the paving of Market street, between Second and Fourth streets, to the Coal, Cement & Supply Co., and for the extensive drainage system along the same section of that leading thoroughfare from Fourth street to the river to Contractor W. E. Glenn. The award of the contracts of course, is subject to the approval of the Board of Aldermen at its regular meeting tomorrow night, but there is no probability that the precedent will be broken by over-ruling the recommendation of the committee in such an important matter and one requiring such a vast deal of investigation.

The award to the Coal, Cement & Supply Co., was for the celebrated Georgia Vitrified Paving Blocks at $1.81½ per square yard, according to the very complete plans and specifications prepared by City Engineer S. P. Adams, and the work is expected to begin within 30 days and to be completed with 90 days. The usual bond for the faithful performance of the contract and the guarantee of the work for a period of a term of years will be required. The Georgia paving blocks were selected from samples furnished by the bidder and after they had undergone the severest tests by City Engineer Adams at the machine used in this city by the A. C. L. The block showed up well with the famous Mack block, manufactured in Pennsylvania, and recognized everywhere as the standard. The sample Mack block broke in two under a pressure of 12 tons, while the Georgia block withstood 25 tons. The Mack block under another test crushed at 45 tons, while the Georgia block withstood 50 tons.

The amount of paving to be done is between 6,000 and 7,000 square yards, so that it will be seen the contract is for more than $10,000. The committee is to be congratulated upon closing the contract after the many and apparently unavoidable delays which have been encountered, chief among which was the peremptory refusal of many property owners along the route to pay their pro rata share of the cost of the improvement according to the long established custom. By virtue of persistent effort, however, the committee has now secured the signatures of over three-fourths of the property-owners, and the others are expected to come in without litigation when the work commences.

The contract for the drainage was awarded at $3,250 to Mr. Glenn, who agrees to furnish a complete job with standard vitrified terra cotta. The pipe will be laid in the middle of the street with laterals from each street corner and from the centre of each block, both sides. From the river to Third street, 24 inch pipe will be used, and from Third to Fourth street a 20 inch main will be laid. The laterals will be 12 inches in size. The drainage work will also be completed in 90 days.

The lowest bid the committee had for the drainage work was $3,700, but all were rejected. Subsequently Mr. Glenn agreed to take the job for $3,250. The committee was satisfied that the work could be done with its own street force for about $3,000, but inasmuch as objection to the work's being done otherwise than by contract developed in some quarters and Captain Woolard and the city force were badly needed for carrying on the extensive work contemplated elsewhere in the city, it was finally thought best to let the work by contract, as required by a strict construction of the law.

The awarding of the contracts last night relieves the committee of a great burden with which it has had to contend for several weeks. Now a new era will begin in street building. Mr. C. H. Dock, the contractor, will have the rock quarry in full blast this week and to-morrow a dozen extra carts will begin rushing 200 tons of repair material to the city for use on the streets. A day or two later the heavy material for building streets will be available and an additional number of carts will be employed. The crusher will start Tuesday and from now on Mr. Dock assures the committee there will be no further interruption. He has recently placed at the quarry a $500 steam derrick on his own account and has determined to get the material out in a hurry. Mayor Springer was at the quarry yesterday afternoon and brought back to the city samples of some very fine material for macadam purposes. The supply is the best ever mined at the quarry and is found in a new place in almost unlimited quantity at only about 7½ feet below the surface. Still lower there is a blue formation that is also very desirable.

The first street to be macadamized will be Second, between Grace and Red Cross. The curbing has already been placed along that section and half the grading is now about completed. The force will begin the macadam this week. Then a vast amount of repair work will be progress and all in all, the committee appears to have done well—mighty well. It is the committee's purpose to ultimately extend the macadam on Second from Red Cross to Castle street.

SOUTHERN MUTUAL HOME AND REAL ESTATE CO.

Wilmington Corporation Organized for Laudable Purpose in South—Prominent Citizens are Interested.

The stockholders of the Southern Mutual Home and Real Estate Co., recently chartered by the Secretary of State, met on Thursday evening and perfected an organization, which the STAR feels satisfied will give this city considerable prominence throughout the Southern States, as the association is an inter-State one and proposes to work almost exclusively in the interest of the people of the Southland.

Many of our prominent business men have looked into the plans of the enterprise and prospects, and by taking stock therein give it their endorsement. At the meeting Thursday night the following were elected directors: C. C. Brown, C. W. Polvogt, R. H. Pickett, M. J. Heyer, W. A. Willson, Jr., Eustace Norfleet, M. C. Hammond, C. D. Weeks and T. E. Brown, of Wilmington; G. R. Landrum, of Augusta, Ga., and S. S. Fitzsimons, of Montgomery, Ala.

The directors met and elected officers to serve until the regular annual meeting in January, viz:

President—Mr. C. C. Brown.
Vice President—Mr. M. J. Heyer.
Manager—Mr. M. C. Hammond.
Secretary—Mr. T. E. Brown.
Treasurer—Mr. R. H. Pickett.
Attorney—Mr. C. D. Weeks.

While it is the purpose of the company to stimulate the purchasing of homes by those of small or moderate means, the plan of operation is very different from that of our local building and loan associations, and while it may be stated that it will be interesting and possibly profitable for all to inform themselves thoroughly regarding this new enterprise. The list of subscribers to the capital stock while not a large one has in it the names of citizens in this and other States who will be recognized as prominent. They are as follows:

Wilmington, N. C.—Messrs. C. C. Brown, C. D. Weeks, M. J. Heyer, C. W. Worth, C. W. Polvogt, R. H. Pickett, M. C. Hammond, J. R. Turrentine, Jr., W. A. Wilcon, Jr., T. J. Davenport, J. K. Troy, Ala.—Mr. W. W. Haralson.

Citronelle, Ala.—Mr. H. L. Hollis.

Savannah, Ga.—Mr. W. D. McCaig.

Columbia, S. C.—Mr. Ed. A. Eve.

The STAR is informed that it is the intention to put up-to-date agents in most of the counties of each State east of the Mississippi and south of the Ohio, and a number of them in certain sections of the North and East, which in itself will be a public benefit, as it will enable many young men and young women, too, of energy and push to make good incomes.

The authorized capital is $25,000.00, in shares of $5.00 each, but all that it is proposed to issue at this time has been subscribed for except about 100 shares, and this in itself shows the estimation in which those that have looked into the enterprise hold it.

They are now seeking an eligible office and arranging for the printing of their stationery and forms of contracts, etc. As soon as these preliminaries are arranged, which they hope will be not later than December 1st, they will commence business.

CAPE FEAR MACHINE WORKS.

Certificate of Incorporation Recorded Yesterday--Shares Held by Incorporators.

A certificate of incorporation for the Cape Fear Machine Works, recently chartered by the Secretary of State, was received by the clerk of the Superior Court here yesterday. As previously announced in the local department and in the Raleigh dispatches of this paper, the company will operate extensive machine shops, foundry and general iron works in this city. The location will be on the water front at the rear of the building owned and occupied by the Worth Company at northwest corner of Nutt and Grace streets.

The company has an authorized capital stock of $100,000 but it may begin business as soon as $25,000 is subscribed and 50 per cent. of that amount is paid in. The shares are subscribed to as follows: C. W. Worth, 140; B. G. Worth, 50; R. S. Collins, 50; W. L. Parsley, 5, and Jno. W. Harper, 5, Mr. R. S. ARMOUR MUST PAY.

Opinion and Findings of Judge Brown in Suit to Enforce Collections.

FOR CORPORATION TAXES.

Payment of License Upon Capital Stock of Foreign Companies Doing Business in State Resisted--Appeal to Supreme Court—Judgment.

In the Superior Court yesterday Judge Geo. H. Brown, Jr., rendered an exhaustive opinion and findings in favor of the plaintiffs in the case of State of North Carolina and County of New Hanover against the Armour Packing Company, which was an action to enforce the payment of corporation tax amounting to $1,000 each to the county and State for the years 1901 and 1902 under Section 91 of the Revenue Bill, it being admitted that the corporation, existing under the laws of the State of New Jersey, has a capital stock of more than a million dollars.

The constitutionality of the passage of the act by the Legislature was called into question by Hon. Jno. D. Bellamy, attorney for the defendant, while the plaintiff through Hon. George Rountree argued that there was no substantial irregularity, as finally held by Judge Brown. From the judgment of the court Mr. Bellamy appealed to the Supreme Court and it was agreed that the judgment and findings of Judge Brown should constitute the case on appeal. Mr. Bellamy is also attorney for defendant in a similar suit against Swift & Co., which it was agreed should stand by the decision in the Armour cause. Another similar action is brought against the Standard Oil Co., for which Hon. James H. Pou, of Raleigh, is counsel. The last named case was continued until next term. About $6,000 is involved in the suits to be divided equally between the county and the State.

The text of Judge Brown's opinion in the Armour case is as follows:

State of North Carolina and Commissioners of New Hanover County, against The Armour Packing Co.

This cause coming on to be heard and a jury trial having been waived by consent of the counsel for both parties, the Court doth find from the evidence and admissions made in open Court the following facts:

1. That the defendant, Armour Packing Company, is a corporation duly organized under and existing by virtue of the laws of New Jersey and has a capital stock of over $1,000,000.

2. That the defendant was engaged in the wholesale business of selling, dealing in and distributing meats, canned goods and other articles of trade during the years 1901 and 1902 on a large scale in the State of North Carolina and in several counties thereof.

3. That the largest business done by the defendant during the said years in any county of the State of North Carolina, was done in the county of New Hanover and the chief office of the defendant company in the State of North Carolina was in the city of Wilmington, though the principal office of the corporation is in Kansas City, Kan. The defendant had offices in four other cities in North Carolina. All officers report direct to Kansas City.

4. That the proper authorities of New Hanover county, at the time and place required by law, levied a tax of $500 upon the defendant corporation for each of the years 1901 and 1902, which taxes of $500 for each of the years 1901 and 1902, for county purposes, has been demanded of and refused by the defendant, and a like demand was made by the proper authorities for a tax of $500 for each of the years 1901 and 1902 for State purposes and refused by the defendant.

5. That the Revenue Act of 1901, under which these taxes are purported to be levied and which is Chap. 9, of the Public Laws of 1901, appears by the House and Senate journals to have been read as a whole in three several days in each house of the General Assembly, and the "Ayes" and "Nays" were entered on the journal upon the second and third readings, but that, after the bill which was known as House Bill 1548 had passed the House, it was amended in the Senate in about 30 sections of said bill: That the House refused to concur in the Senate amendment, and a conference committee was appointed, which committee, as appears on pages 1,289 to 1,290 of the House Journal, recommended that the House concur in the Senate amendments to Sections 4, 5, 6, 7, 9, 17, 18, 42, 48, 53, 64, 68, 71, 74, 76, 79, 80, 81, 85, 87, 94, 95, 101, 104, 108, and that the Senate recede from its amendment Sections 38, 77, 79, 88, 90 and 80, in part, and this report of the conference committee was upon motion adopted March 14, and the bill, as amended by the conference committee, was not read upon three several days in each House, and the "ayes" and "noes" entered upon the Journal upon the second and third reading.

6. It appears from an inspection of the original bill filed in the State Librarian's office, that as originally introduced into the House, the Bill, 1,548, was as follows: "Section 88. Tax on Corporations—On each and every corporation (railroad, banks, building and loan associations, insurance companies, telegraph companies, express companies and telephone companies excepted) an annual franchise tax in proportion to the amount of its capital stock according to the following graduated scale, to wit:

"On corporations having a capital stock paid in or subscribed of $25,000 or less, $5.00; over $25,000 and not exceeding $50,000, $10; over $50,000 and not exceeding $100,000, $25.00; over $100,000 and not exceeding $250,000, $50; over $250,000 and not exceeding $500,000, $100; over $500,000 and not exceeding one million dollars, $200,000; over one million dollars, $500."

"In addition to the penalties otherwise provided in this act, the failure for three consecutive years to pay the franchise tax imposed by this section shall cause a forfeiture of the charter of such corporation, and its charter in that event shall be, and the same is hereby repealed. When the capital stock of any land company or corporation shall not amount in actual value to more than $10,000, the tax imposed by this section shall be $25 and no more; provided that the payment of the tax imposed by this section shall not exempt any corporation from the payment of the license taxes levied under Schedule B of this act."

That thereafter the said Section 88 was amended by having inserted between the word "corporation" and the word "railroad," the following: "Organized under the laws of this State.' That the said section of the amended became Section 95 of the printed bill known as House Bill 1,548 and Senate Bill 1,468. That thereafter the said section, being known as Section 95, was amended under conference of a committee of both houses, by having inserted therein after the words "organized under the laws of the State" and before the word "railroad," the following words: "Or doing business in this State," and there was further added to the said section 95 the words, "Provided, further, that the tax provided for under this section shall be payable in the county of this State where it has its principal office." That the said section 95, as thus amended, being taken into a committee of conference, the said amendment being a Senate amendment, the House concurred in the Senate amendment to section 95 and the Senate receded from certain amendments, all of which will appear on pages 1,289 and 1,290 of the House journal for the year 1901; that thereafter the said section 95 was renumbered and became section 91 of the Revenue Laws of 1901, as finally enrolled.

7. It was conceded that the tax of $300 paid by the defendant was paid as an agency of a packing house under section —— of the Revenue Bill, and the only contest was made upon the liabilities of the defendant in State and county taxes under Section 91 of the Revenue Bill, as printed.

From the above facts the court is of opinion and adjudges that the Revenue Act, including Section 91 of the Laws of 1901, was enacted with a substantial compliance with the constitution and is valid and in force. That the plaintiff is entitled to recover of defendant the sum of $1,000 from taxes levied under said section for 1901 and 1902, together with the costs of this action.

G. H. BROWN, JR.,
Judge.

From this judgment defendant appeals. Notice waived. Bond fixed at $50. The pleadings, summons and these findings and judgment constitute case on appeal. G. H. BROWN, JR.,
Judge.

SUNDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 1.

THE COST OF CONGRESSIONAL SUPPORT.

If it is true that United States Senators and other eminent leaders have been bringing their "influence" to bear upon President Roosevelt to save political friends from the legitimate consequences of official irregularities and violations of the law, the fact calls for plain talk. The Federal Constitution imposes upon the President the duty of making appointments with the advice and consent of the Senate. As a matter of fact, the Senators of the party in power ordinarily control the distribution of Federal patronage from their several States, with the exception of that portion of it which is reserved for the benefit of Representatives belonging to the same party. "The courtesy of the Senate" permits no poaching on any Senator's preserves. The "advice of the Senate" now amounts to a command, which the President can only disregard at his peril. The government of the United States is not a parliamentary government precisely in the sense that the government of Great Britain is; but the President understands that he can accomplish comparatively little if he cannot command the steady support of a majority in Congress. The party of the administration in the Senate and in the House will go very far to carry out his views of public policy, provided that he, on his part, proves equally complaisant. The whole arrangement is one of give and take. Mr. Cleveland, who had had no experience in Federal politics when he was first elected President, manifested what the Senators of his party, and the practical politicians generally, regarded as an unseemly and dangerous inappreciation of the merits of that time-honored plan, and the consequence was that he incurred their active hostility. They could not prevent his renomination either in 1888 or in 1892, but they went as far as they dared to attack his popularity and to defeat the policies which he regarded as most urgent.

Mr. Roosevelt does not intend to imitate Mr. Cleveland's course in that respect. He does not underestimate the value of patronage as a source of influence, and has shown himself not above using it where he thinks it can strengthen him politically. His alliance with Addicks in Delaware leaves no room for doubt on that subject. He was at one time a police commissioner in New York city, and at another a member of the Federal Civil Service Commission. In both positions he was regarded as friendly to civil service reform. But in those days there were no appointments at his disposal, and he was free to make a reputation as a public spirited citizen of enlightened views and a progressive worker in the field of theoretic politics. His own personal relation to the conduct of public affairs has undergone a great change, and he has altered his attitude accordingly. But people still prefer to believe that he means well, and though he has become a thoroughgoing professional politician, and, above all, a Roosevelt man in politics, that his sense of personal honor and of public duty would never permit him to countenance or condone any flagrant violation of the laws which he has sworn to execute. But if Senators of the United States or other high officers of the Federal Government have undertaken to stay his hand in the punishment of offenders they must have formed a very different estimate of his character, for only an unscrupulous man, or a very weak one, could ignore the paramount claims of justice and of the public interest in such a case for any consideration of mere party expediency, and still less with a view to holding his own personal supporters well in hand.

A partisan civil service, bad as it is, has its more or less plausible defenders; but who will undertake the defense of a criminal civil service? No one can say precisely what degree of truth there is in the reports which have been circulated in regard to efforts made by prominent men to check the investigation of irregularities and fraudulent acts in Federal offices or to prevent the punishment of any notorious offender against the law. But it has been made plain enough by actual experience that the tendency of a strictly partisan system is to fill the offices of the various departments with men who have been trained to take a venal view of public life, and whose sense of obligation reaches no higher than the immediate source of their appointment. To work for his party and to work most of all for the man who puts him in, that is the obligation which the placeman recognizes. Strange to say, however, there are many thousands of good people, honest men of all parties, who insist that the winning party ought to have the offices, and who are prepared to incur all the losses and perils incident to the execution of that policy rather than abandon the doctrine that to the victors belong the spoils. Spoil! Is not that word enough in itself to degrade the popular conception of the public service?—New Orleans Picayune.

On his recent trip to Chicago Mr. Cleveland spoke of making his son a bridge builder. The Griffin (Ga.) News thinks that if little Cleveland were a bridge builder he might repair some of the bridges that his father has burned, upon which smart observation the Savannah Press makes the following pertinent comment: "The pontoons that the old man destroyed were generally of very worthless timber."

WORRIED ABOUT ANN'S AGE.

(Salisbury Sun.)

Down at the passenger station this morning Salisburian going out of town for the day was asked what he thought of the weather prospects.

"Weather?" he asked. "Why, what is weather? Have we any? I have known of nothing for a few days but how old is Ann? That girl's age is driving me crazy. Every paper I pick up has something about Ann's age. I cannot sleep. I am going to run down to the Mecklenburg fair to see if there is not something there that will get this thing off my mind. But the plague-take-it thing keeps running through my brain. 'Mary is 24.' That is all right; I don't care a continental about Mary. It is poor little Ann whose age is worrying me. 'Mary is twice as old as Ann was'—let me see—how does it go—'as Ann was when Mary was as old as Ann is now. How old is Ann?' That all sounds easy enough, but I can't figure it out. The man who mentions this to me again is going to get knocked down, and I will try to crush his life out. I picked up a Charlotte paper to read about Dr. Jay's case and the first thing I saw was a picture of people trying to solve this problem. 'Mary is'—but blessed if I will discuss or think of this thing any more. Newspapers ought not to be allowed to print such matters. It is sending more people to the asylums than all the liquor that was ever sold."

CURRENT COMMENT.

—Col. Watterson did not spread a wide enough net when he accused the "gray wolves" of crookedness in connection with the Panama canal. Some of the senators and representatives in Congress have their hair dyed.—Cincinnati Enquirer, Dem.

—While winter, which is rapidly coming on, is a dull season up North, it is the busiest time in the South. Here we have good crops, and these crops command in the markets of the world cash. Our part of the country is still in the sunshine of a fair promise. Nevertheless, we would suffer more or less if there were serious financial troubles in any part of the country. Business everywhere sympathizes.—N. O. Picayune, Dem.

—What may or may not be done by the United States, should Colombia at some time make canal concessions to another Power, is a bridge which may be crossed, should we ever reach it. The extension of the application of the Monroe Doctrine is another matter with which the administration just now has no concern. But the obedience of the mandate of Congress to proceed with the construction of a canal via the Nicaragua route is an immediate, practical duty which cannot be avoided by thrashing out vague possibilities of the future that may never arise.—Louisville Courier-Journal, Dem.

TWINKLINGS.

— Pluck, skill and determination will in time work wonders, but they get much quicker returns by working suckers.—Puck.

— Clerk—Is this to be charged, madam? Lady—Oh, yes; you'll have to. My husband has just lost his position.—Harper's Bazar.

— "The old lady'll give you hail Columbia for betting on a horse race." "No she won't. This time I won!"—Atlanta Constitution.

— Mr. Jackson—Huh! Dat newfangled coffee mill yo' bought doan grind at all. Mrs. Jackson—Yeas; it 's lak some husbands. Expensive, goes aroun' a lot, en doan do no wuk.—Puck.

— "I'd rather hear Miss Dinsmore play 'Hiawatha' than any one else," said Twynn. "I thought you were weary of that piece," replied Triplett. "I am, but she plays it so badly that it sounds like something else."—Town Topics.

— "Confound it!" growled Closeman; "I dropped a dime in that weighing machine instead of a penny." "Ha, ha!" chuckled his buffoon friend; "I guess that's when you tipped the scales."—Philadelphia Record.

— "I am between the horns of a dilema," she said. "Well, that would seem to be about the only place where you can't get bored," he replied. Of course, not being a liberal person, she had not looked at it in that light.—Chicago Post.

— "A preacher," remarked the man who thinks himself a born jokesmith, "reminds us of a retired prize fighter." "What's the answer?" queried the party who is somewhat dense. "They are both ex-pounders," answered the alleged humorist, with a goulish grin.—Chicago News.

Not a Sick Day Since.

"I was taken severely sick with kidney trouble. I tried all sorts of medicines, none of which relieved me. One day I saw an advertisement of your Electric Bitters and determined to try that. After taking a few doses I felt relieved, and soon thereafter was entirely cured, and have not seen a sick day since. Neighbors of mine have been cured of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Liver and Kidney troubles and General Debility." This is what B. F. Bass, of Fremont, N. C., writes. Only 50 cents at R. R. SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Col. J. B. Rankin, of Charlotte, is dead.

— A bank has been chartered at Morven, Anson county, with a capital of $10,000.

— It is said that over 10,000 people were on the Fair grounds in Charlotte on Thursday.

— Mr. Elias Gillis, aged 78 years, was found dead in bed in Laurinburg last Wednesday morning.

— Two white girls were burned to death in Gates county recently while attempting to start a fire with kerosene oil.

— Rev. Dr. Ivey thinks the gain in membership in the North Carolina Conference this year will be about 4,000.

— Two of the eight prisoners who escaped from Beaufort county jail a few days ago have been recaptured and three have voluntarily surrendered.

— A special from Asheville, N. C., says: After hearing the argument for and against continuance in the case of Dr. Jay, charged with a triple murder, Judge Shaw announced that the plea for a continuance would be granted. The defence will plead insanity.

— The vault and so-called burglar proof safe at the Florence Mills Company store at Forest City, six miles from Rutherfordton, were blown open by expert safe crackers at 3 o'clock Thursday morning and about $1,100 stolen, about $900 of which belonged to the store, $100 to the town and $110 to the post-office.

— Miss Annie Shelton, a 14-year-old girl, was married at Pelham, N. C., Monday, to Joseph C. Dalton. Both of the young people are from Danville. It was a runaway match, the parents of the girl objecting on account of her extreme youth. The mother of the girl is said to have been furious when she learned what her daughter had done.

— Tarboro Southerner: J. C. Powell's stock of hogs will compare favorably with any in this section. For years he has been improving the breed. His latest addition is a seven-weeks' old pig weighing 60 pounds, from Biltmore. Its sire at 22 months weighed 1,020 pounds and Mr. Vanderbilt paid $1,350 for its grandsire.

—While transferring the big dynamo for the W. T. Weaver Power Co., on the French Broad river, the wagon on which the machine was being hauled turned over and the dynamo, weighing fifty thousand pounds, was badly if not fatally wrecked. All the iron castings were broken and it is doubtful if the piece of machinery can be repaired. It cost nearly $25,000.

— Statesville special to Charlotte Observer: The register of deeds of Iredell county to-day issued license for the marriage of Mr. Adolphus Beaver and Miss Bessie Goodman, of Cool Spring township, and the marriage will take place Sunday. Readers will recall that Mrs. Dovie Beaver, wife of the groom-to-be, was murdered July 30th, three months ago to-morrow, and that Wilford Roseboro, colored, was convicted and hanged here Thursday, September 10th. Mr. Beaver is 50 years old, and Miss Goodman 19.

— Yadkin Ripple: It was reported to us Monday that on last Sunday a week a gentleman accompanied a widow home from church, carrying her baby; on Monday he put fire under a barn of tobacco for her and cured it; on Friday he killed a pig for her, and last Sunday morning they were married. Thus it was that by showing himself worthy that Mr. Sanford Caudle obtained Mrs. Liza Belle Hoots as his better half. Evidently he did not put on his best suit and then stray away, as did one swain.

— Winston Journal: John Low is in jail for the shooting of John Petree yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock. Low, together with Petree and another negro, Clarence Freeman, were out hunting near Mickey's pond, when Low said that he was feeling mean and believed he would shoot one of the others on the sly. Following this remark he said he was a robber and had the devil in his bones. He then raised his gun and snapped it at the other two. When Petree attempted to take it from him the gun exploded, throwing the whole load of shot into his stomach. Petree is not expected to live.

— Raleigh News and Observer: A good story is told on Mr. M. J. Wrenn, of High Point. It is related that on Wednesday of Fair Week, while on the grounds here, in Floral Hall, he was spied by Capt. Rankin, a fellow townsman, who thought he would have some fun. The captain slipped up behind Mr. Wrenn and did the pickpocket act, putting his hand in Mr. Wrenn's pocket. The latter, without ever looking up, seized Captain Rankin's wrist, and a life and death struggle began. For awhile it looked serious, when Mr. J. J. Farriss, editor of the High Point Enterprise, finally succeeded in getting Mr. Wrenn to look at the "Pickpocket," when he collapsed. It is further stated that Mr. Wrenn had in his pocket an old fashioned 3 cent piece and a button, and the dollar he borrowed that morning.

Getting Rich In Mining.

Two brothers, Chuck and Ferdinand, started out to get rich in the mining business. Chuck went to the mountains and tried to find gold. He prospected for years, leading a life of hardships and privations. He never discovered any gold and was finally killed in a snowslide. Ferdinand organized stock companies to develop "sure thing" mines, in which there was no gold. He was superintendent of the Sunday school and induced way up church people to indorse his schemes. The sale of stocks in gold mining companies made him a very rich man, and he presented the city with a water fountain and was voted a public benefactor. It is not always necessary to mine gold in order to get it.—Atchison Globe.

How to Make Salads.

A salad should always be properly washed, not in one, but at the very least in three or four waters. It should then be carefully dried leaf by leaf. It is impossible to produce a successful salad if the green stuff in question is in the least degree damp. Again, a salad should never be cut with a knife, not even a silver knife. When washed and dried it should be torn into pieces of a suitable size. Thirdly, the oil and vinegar used should be in the proportion of two spoonfuls of the former to one of the latter.

How to Clean Silk Dresses.

A little ammonia in a few teaspoonfuls of alcohol is excellent to sponge silk dresses that have grown shiny or rusty, as well as to take out spots. A silk, particularly a black, becomes almost like new when so sponged.

FOR LOVE OF SHORTY

By FREDERICK WHITE

Copyright, 1903, by McClure's Newspaper Syndicate

Maggie Dolan's first dream of love was inspired by Shorty McGovern.

He had danced with her three times at the ball of the Happy Friends' association and had escorted her home afterward. Unfortunately for her peace of mind, Maggie had not inspired Shorty with anything in particular.

He was good natured, and had danced with her because she did not seem to have many partners.

He walked home with her because they happened to dance the last waltz together. Then he forgot all about it, but Maggie did not.

Had she known Shorty's profession—he was a burglar—she would have had nothing to do with him. But she only knew that he was what she considered handsome and that he talked most attractively about books.

She was young, very young, and no man or boy had ever paid her so much attention before.

Being afflicted with an imagination, she gave herself up to dreams in which Shorty was always the predominant figure. On her way to and from the factory she was continually on the lookout for him, and every evening she surprised her mother by putting on her best dress in the hope that he might come to see her. But Shorty never came. He had other business on hand, if not more attractive at least more remunerative, so Maggie looked and waited in vain.

Shorty had just pulled off a good thing, so good that the police were almost as much interested as the victims of the robbery, and that meant trouble.

Shorty realized this and resented it because it interfered with his reading. He always read voraciously—between times—and, with the wherewithal for six months' comfort on hand, he hated to be disturbed. He knew, in that mysterious way by which police news travels to those most interested, that he was under suspicion and, much against his inclinations, he was preparing to leave town until the atmosphere should clear.

In the meanwhile Maggie had become almost desperate. In her primitive way she was very much in love, and to see Shorty again was her one thought, day and night. Her fancy wove a glamour about him that even Shorty himself would have repudiated with scorn had he known.

Then came the arrest, for the powers had been too much for him at last.

Maggie saw it in the papers, and a picture of her hero brought the shock home to her with sickening directness. She was dazed, stunned, hopeless, but still in love. Without saying anything to her mother she visited Shorty in the city prison.

Shorty was very much surprised, but appreciated the attention, although the girl's grief and disappointment in him (she had impulsively told more than she should) annoyed him.

Though more or less callous in regard to the right or wrong of his calling, he would have welcomed respectability if he could have afforded it, but now it was too late, and in his heart he resented this too. The first visit led to others, and in the devotion of the girl Shorty saw a gleam of hope.

He was not entirely selfish in this matter. If he escaped his term in prison, he would do the right thing by her.

He would take her away with him and marry her, but for some reason or other he never told the girl this.

So it was that for pure love of him Maggie agreed to help him establish an alibi, although she knew from his own lips that he was guilty.

With the aid of a lawyer, who asked no embarrassing questions, they concocted the defense. On the day of the trial Maggie went on the stand. Pale of face, but exalted in spirit, she swore that on the night of the robbery Shorty had been with her, in her home, until 1 o'clock.

Fortunately for the success of this story, Maggie's mother could not deny it, for she had spent that night away from home nursing a sick friend.

Broken hearted at the smirching of the good name of Dolan, she asserted her belief that her daughter was bewitched and, shaking her fist at Shorty, threatened vengeance until suppressed by the court.

Her evident animus against the prisoner had an effect directly opposite from that which she had hoped to produce. It strengthened his alibi materially, and much to the disgust of the police Shorty was acquitted.

When the dwellers of the tenements wish to be alone and undisturbed, they seek the comparative privacy of a park bench. On the evening of his release Shorty met the girl by appointment, and together they threaded their way through the crowded streets to one of the city's breathing spaces.

Shorty, pale and worn and somewhat chastened in spirit by his enforced seclusion, breathed the air of liberty with ever growing delight.

It was good to be his own boss again, and with the realization came another thought—he was some one else's boss too. His hand touched the arm of the girl at his side, and a thrill of conscious power ran through him.

She belonged to him. She had done too much and gone too far to quit now. She must look to him and to no one else in the future.

When he first understood that he was free, his heart had gone out to the girl in a tender pity that left him a suppliant at her feet.

But now, a few hours later, this was forgotten. Something in his lawless nature crowded out all sense of gratitude and left only the selfish pride of man in his conquest.

They entered the park and sat down upon a bench partly sheltered from passing eyes by a bush.

Maggie's face looked very white in the growing dusk, and her eyes were fixed on the ground.

Shorty shifted about uneasily, and then, in lieu of anything better, he put his arm about her shoulders.

The girl shivered and drew away.

"What's the matter," said Shorty. "You're not afraid of me, are you?"

"No," said the girl; "I'm more afraid of myself."

This was beyond Shorty's comprehension. "You're what?" he asked roughly.

"Oh, Shorty," cried the girl earnestly, "can't you understand that it's all over now and we must not see each other any more?"

"What d'ye mean?" he demanded. "Don't you know I'm going to take you away tomorrow. I got some money left, and," he added magnanimously, "we can get married before we go if you want to."

Maggie laid her head upon the top rail of the bench and began to cry.

"I can't do it. I won't do it," she sobbed. "You must go away—alone."

Shorty did not know what to make of this. What did the girl want if she did not want him? Why had she visited him in the prison, worked for him, lied for him, if she did not want him?

"Aw, come off," he said gently. "What do you want, anyhow?"

"This," said the girl, springing to her feet and flashing the tears from her eyes. "I want you to go away where I will never see you again. What I did I did because I loved you, and I am glad of it—glad that I lied for you and got you off."

Shorty looked at her in wonder. He could not understand this girl. There was something in her beyond his comprehension.

His confidence in himself was weakening.

"You better come with me, Maggie," he said. "I'll promise to be good to you."

"It isn't that," went on the girl. "I told you I was not afraid of anything but myself. I know what you are—a thief, and I know what I am—a liar, and I know what we both ought to be, and I can't do it. We could never be happy or good and—oh, Shorty! I'll always think of you as you were that night at the dance, before I knew, and—go—go away now or I can't stand it."

Shorty began to realize something of the tumult in the girl's heart.

He felt rather than understood her struggle for her ideal.

He knew that should he take her in his arms even now she would not be able to resist him.

Something of her innate desire for what was good and true stole over him, and to his everlasting credit he did not resist it.

"I guess you're right, Maggie," he said brokenly. "I thought we could have gone away and been happy together, but—I guess you're right."

There was a world of gratitude in her eyes as she raised them to him, and his own eyes grew misty.

"Goodby," he said.

She placed her hand in his, and they stood there for a moment, neither daring to say a word. Then he turned and walked swiftly away.

She saw him for a moment in the glare of the electric light, and then he disappeared in the shadows beyond.

Rheumatism

Bone or Back Pains, Swollen Joints

CURED
THROUGH THE BLOOD
By Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.).

TO PROVE IT, B.B.B. SENT FREE.

We want every reader of this paper who has rheumatism to send us his or her name. We will send them by return mail a sample of Botanic Blood Balm, the wonderful Blood Remedy which has cured, to stay cured, more old deep-seated, obstinate cases of rheumatism than all other remedies, doctors, hot springs or liniments combined. Botanic Blood Balm kills the uric acid poison in the blood, and in its place gives pure, red, nourishing blood, sending a rich, tingling flood of warm blood direct to the paralyzed nerves, bones and joints, giving warmth and strength just where it is needed, and in this way making a perfect cure.

B.B.B. has cured hundreds of cases where the sufferer has been doubled up for years; or where the joints had been swollen so long they were almost brittle and perfectly rigid and stiff, yet B.B.B. unlimbered the joints, straightened out the bent back and made a perfect, lasting cure after all other remedies had failed.

Leading Symptoms.

Bone pains, sciatica, or shooting pains up and down the leg; aching back or shoulder blades, swollen joints or swollen muscles, difficulty in moving around so you have to use crutches; blood thin or skin pale; skin itches and burns; shifting pains; bad breath, etc. Botanic Blood Balm (B.B.B.) will remove every symptom, give quick relief from the first dose and permanently cure in a few weeks' time.

Weak, Inactive Kidneys.

One of the causes of Rheumatism is due to inactive kidneys and bladder. Pains in the loins and a feeling of a dull, heavy weight in the lower part of the Bowels, urinous taste in the mouth or disagreable odor of the urine are some of the leading symptoms. For this trouble there is no better medicine than B.B.B., it stimulates all the nerves of the Kidneys into action; opens up every channel that was closed, and the result will be a healthy natural flow of urine, and the passing off of the uric acid and all other diseased matter, and a lasting cure made. B.B.B. makes the kidneys and bladder strong and healthy

The Morning Star.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 1.

PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION.

Designating Thursday, the 26th of November, as a Day of General Thanksgiving for All the People.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The President to-day issued his annual Thanksgiving proclamation, in part, as follows:

"The season is at hand when, according to the custom of our people, it falls upon the President to appoint a day of praise and thanksgiving to God.

"During the last year the Lord has dealt bountifully with us, giving us peace at home and abroad, and the chance for our citizens to work for their welfare, unhindered by war, famine or plague. It behooves us not only to rejoice greatly because of what has been given us, but to accept it with a solemn sense of responsibility, realizing that under Heaven it rests with us ourselves to show that we are worthy to use a right that has thus been intrusted to our care.

"In no other place and at no other time has the experiment of government of the people by the people, for the people, been tried on so vast a scale as here in our own country in the opening years of the 20th century. Failure would not only be a dreadful thing for us, but a dreadful thing for all mankind, because it would mean loss of hope for all who believe in the power and the righteousness of liberty. Therefore, in thanking God for the mercies extended to us in the past, we beseech Him that He may not withold them in the future, and that our hearts may be roused to war steadfastly for the good and against all the forces of evil, public and private. We pray for strength and light, so that in the coming years we may with cleanliness, fearlessness and wisdom do our allotted work on the earth in such a manner as to show that we are not altogether unworthy of the blessings we have received.

Now, therefore, I, Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States, do hereby designate as a day of general thanksgiving, Thursday, the twenty-sixth of the coming November, and do recommend that throughout the land, the people cease from their wonted occupations, and in their several houses and places of worship render thanks to Almighty God for his manifold mercies."

GOLD AND SILVER.

Total Production in 1902—The Production in Southern States.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The total world's production of gold in 1902, as estimated by the director of the mint, is $395,889,600, and of silver, coining value, $215,861,800. For the United States the figures are: Gold, $8,000,000; silver, $71,757,600.

As compared with 1901, these figures show an increase in the production of gold of 1,572,914 ounces, and a decrease of 8,042,914 ounces in the production of silver. During the year Africa increased its gold production from 489,704 ounces to 1,887,773 ounces, and Australia increased its gold production to $9,518,800, which is over a million and a half dollars in excess of the production of the United States, which again takes second place.

The production of precious metals in the Southern States was as follows: Alabama, gold, $2,500; silver, $129. Georgia, gold, $97,800; silver, $517. North Carolina, gold, $90,700; silver, $27,022. South Carolina, $12,900; silver, $388. Tennessee, silver, $15,903. Virginia, gold, $3,100; silver, $7,628.

SOME WILD SHOOTING.

Between Rev. W. O. Petty and John B. Lipscomb, at Gainesville, Ga.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SAVANNAH, GA., Oct. 31.—A special from Gainesville, Ga., to the Morning News says: Rev. W. O. Petty, a well known minister, shot at John B. Lipscomb at the place of business of the latter on Athens street this morning. The shot went wide of its mark and struck Jones Jaines, who was inside the store, inflicting a painful wound, which, however, is not serious. The shooting occurred over an excoriation in the public prints of this city by Petty of Lipscomb, the former alleging that the latter was running a vile dive, selling liquor illegally, etc. Lipscomb returned Petty's fire but missed. Each swore out warrants for assault with intent to murder against the other, and their cases were called before Judges Dudley and Loden this afternoon, but were postponed until Monday morning.

Much excitement was created by the shooting.

SEVERELY TROUNCED.

Gunner in U. S. Navy Who Offered Gratuitous Insult to Confederate Flag.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEWPORT NEWS, VA., Oct. 31.—Andrew Olsen, a gunner in the United States navy, stationed at the shipyard here, offered a gratuitous insult to the Confederate flag in the presence of a number of Sons of Confederate Veterans who were in a hotel cafe early this morning. The party had just returned from the ball given in honor of the sponsors and maids of honor of the Grand Camp of Virginia, Confederate Veterans, which has been in session this week. Olsen threw a small flag to the floor and trampled it under foot. Mayor Thornton Jones, of Hampton, who was in the crowd, knocked Olsen down, repeating the punishment five times.

J. W. Johnson, local agent at St. Paul, Minn., of H. H. Shufeldt & Co., the so-called whiskey trust, was arrested yesterday on a warrant sworn out by a representative of the firm. It is alleged that he is short in his accounts and that the amount is close to $30,000.

FORECAST OF THE ELECTIONS TUESDAY

Hard to Tell Who Will Win in the Mayoralty Fight in New York City.

WILL BE A CLOSE CONTEST.

Leaders Claim Large Majorities for Their Tickets--Fusionists Expected to Carry Brooklyn--Devery Not Regarded Seriously as a Candidate.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Three days before the municipal election of 1903, well informed men on either side of the struggle find themselves unable to predict the result of Tuesday's election. It seems probable that the election will be very close and that a few thousand votes will decide whether Seth Low or George B. McClellan will be at the head of the city's government for the next two years.

Wm. S. Devery, who is running independently, is not regarded seriously as a candidate. To-night the campaign practically closed with a hundred or more political meetings on either side.

All the leaders to-day issued estimates of large majorities for their tickets, Charles F. Murphy claiming the election of the Democratic ticket by 100,000. M. Lynn Bruce and R. Fulton Cutting declared that Low will be elected by about 32,000, as many as in 1901, or perhaps more, and even Devery said his election is certain. It is known, however, that none of them has confidence in his published estimates and that either side looks for the election of its candidate by a small plurality. The fate of minor candidates, for comptroller and president of the board of aldermen, especially, is even more in doubt.

A Democratic majority in Manhattan is generally regarded as probable, and the Fusionists are expected to carry Brooklyn, the other boroughs being in doubt. In Brooklyn the Fusionists are claiming 40,000 majority, but it is known that the more conservative estimates place it at 15,000 to 20,000.

Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, issued an estimate of 32,000 plurality in Manhattan, but it is understood that he does not count on more than 35,000 to 38,000.

The combined result promises to be so close that the votes Devery may be able to draw from the Tammany strength in Manhattan may decide the election one way or the other.

Not only the return of the Democrats to the control of the city's government, but also the leadership of Murphy in Tammany Hall is involved in the struggle. Murphy, it is generally believed, was placed in the leadership by Richard Croker, and it is thought that defeat would mean his deposition.

The campaign has been conducted by the Fusionists on the record of the Low administration and the principle of non-partisanship in municipal elections, with "stand pat" and "keep the grafters out" as war-cries.

The Democrats have attacked the Low administration for extravagance and incompetency and called for a "business administration," urging the importance of this election upon the coming State and presidential elections as a cause for the return of all Democrats to the party.

Devery has made a bid for labor votes by his support of Parks, the walking delegate, convicted of extortion, and giving a number of alleged disclosures about methods in the police department and city administration during his incumbency. What votes he draws will detract from the Tammany strength.

The Ohio Campaign.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 31.—The campaign in Ohio practically closed to-night with rallies everywhere.

The election Tuesday is for a full State ticket and members of the Legislature that selects the successor of Senator Hanna.

For the first time in Ohio the two parties have had nominees for senator; John H. Clarke, of Cleveland, and Senator Hanna have canvassed the entire State for senator and the senatorial fight has predominated over State affairs. John H. Clarke has been known for years as an orator and his eloquent addresses have been directed against Senator Hanna, while Mayor Tom L. Johnson, the Democratic candidate for governor, and other Democratic speakers have also made Hanna the target of their attacks. Senator Hanna aimed his philippics at Mayor Johnson more than at his senatorial opponent. Johnson was charged with being the real candidate for senator as well as for governor, and prospectively a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President next year. While Hanna and Johnson are not candidates for the same place, yet the fight has been one throughout between these two men.

The indications are that Johnson will get most of the Socialist vote which was over 17,000 last year, but it is very doubtful if the whole of that vote would equal his Democratic losses. All predictions are that the Republicans will elect their State ticket by a large plurality and the only claims of the Democrats are for the legislature. It is held by the Democrats that the Republicans might elect their State ticket by fifty thousand plurality and yet lose the legislature.

Outlook in Maryland.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 31.—The campaign in Maryland came to a close to-night after a six-week period of speech-making in every county and in the city of Baltimore, almost unprecedented in the history of the State for enthusiasm and partisan activity. The Democrats had their last grand rally last night and to-night the Republicans had a final great gathering in Music Hall, where thousands listened to speeches by Stevenson A. Williams, the Republican candidate for governor; United States Senator McComas and other noted leaders.

The end of the campaign finds the Republican and Democratic campaign managers equally confident of victory on Tuesday next.

John R. Hanna, chairman of the Republican State central committee, in a formal statement late this afternoon said he would not give out any figures as to the expected actual majorities in the various counties, but claims that a decided triumph is assured.

Murray Vandiver, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, also issued a statement this afternoon expressing confidence and making more specific claims as to the State and Legislative tickets. He said: "We will carry the State by 15,000 majority and ought to have 90 members of the Legislature on joint ballot. In fact, I cannot see where the Republicans are going to get the 38 votes that such a statement concedes them. We will control both branches of the Legislature.

In Nebraska.

LINCOLN, Oct. 31.—The political campaign in Nebraska has been apathetic throughout, and unless the unexpected happens there will be a falling off from even the usually light vote of an off year.

At Republican State headquarters Chairman Lindsey expressed perfect confidence of victory. With an average vote, he said, the Republican ticket would win by 15,000 majority.

Chairman Weber, of the Populist Committee, says he was hopeful that the Fusion ticket would be elected. There have been few meetings during the campaign and Mr. Bryan, contrary to his usual custom, has made no speeches.

Contest in Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Oct. 31.—A flying trip from Covington into Louisville, with numerous speeches en route, brought to a close the campaign of Gov. J. C. W. Beckham for re-election. His opponent, Col. Morris Belknap, who is a wealthy Louisville business man and a Spanish war veteran, wound up his canvass by a speech at the Auditorium to-night. The contest has been remarkable for its vigor and has been characterized by considerable bitterness.

It is believed that the Democrats will carry Louisville by 3,000 to 5,000, but the Republicans claim they will come to the city with more than enough to offset this.

ELECTRICAL DISTURBANCES.

Interfered With Telegraphic Service at Many Places—Attended by Brilliant Display of Aurora Borealis.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—A brilliant display of the aurora borealis early to-day interfered with telegraphic service in this vicinity. Both telegraph companies report wire trouble on account of the electrical display and all cablegrams were accepted subject to heavy delay. This was the first display of the aurora in this city for ten years and it lasted several hours.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The most severe electrical storm of many years crippled telegraphic communication throughout the United Kingdom to-day. Communication over the land lines and by cable was almost wholly interrupted.

PARIS, Oct. 31.—Telegraphic communication between France and the remainder of Europe and America was almost suspended throughout the entire day, in consequence of an electrical disturbance which seems to be general and is attributed to seismic movements and atmospheric phenomena regarding which nothing definite is ascertainable.

FIFTEEN KILLED; FIFTY INJURED.

Terrible Accident on the "Big Four" Railroad Near Indianapolis, Indiana.

PASSENGER TRAIN WRECKED.

Coaches Filled With Students Going to a Football Game—Several of the Injured Fatally Hurt—Harrowing Scenes---Cars Caught Fire.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Oct. 31.—Fifteen persons were killed and over fifty injured, some fatally, this morning by a collision between a special passenger train on the Big Four railroad and a freight engine drawing coal cars. The accident happened in the edge of this city. The passenger train of twelve coaches was carrying 954 persons, nearly all of whom were students of Purdue University and their friends from LaFayette to Indianapolis, for the annual football game between the Purdue team and the Indiana University squad for the State championship, which was to have been fought this afternoon.

In the first coach back of the engine were the Purdue foot ball team, substitute players and managers. Three players, the assistant coach, trainer and seven substitute players of the University team were killed, and every one of the fifty-three other persons in the car were either fatally or seriously injured.

From the twelve coaches were coming the joyous cries of a thousand rooters for Purdue, clad in gala dress with colors streaming, while in the front coach sat twenty muscular fellows, trained to the hour, on whom the hope of a brilliant victory on the gridiron was entertained.

Around the curve at the Eighteenth street cut Engineer Schumaker found directly in front of him the freight engine and coal cars moving slowly from a switch leading to a gravel pit. He reversed his engine and jumped.

The crash hurled the passenger engine and three front coaches against the steel freight cars loaded with coal that ploughed their way through and buried under a pile of wreckage weighing many tons, fully sixty human beings.

The first car, in which were the players, was completely demolished, the roof being torn away and landing across a car of coal, while the body of the car was reduced to kindling wood against the side of the steel freight cars. The second coach, containing the band of musicians, was partly telescoped, while the third coach was overturned and hurled down a fifteen-foot embankment. The other coaches did not leave the track. President Stone of the University with his family was in the fifth coach and was not injured.

Immediately after the shock the passengers, men and women, began the work of tearing away the wreckage and pulling out the dead and dying classmates and fraternity brothers. The young women performed heroic work. Though the bodies were in several instances horribly mangled—one completely and one partially beheaded—they took upon their laps the heads of the dying and injured and soothed their sufferings as best they could until the surgeons arrived.

A general alarm was sounded and every assistance the city could afford was rushed to the wreck, which was three miles from the business center. While the dead and injured were being carried to the morgues and hospitals, the work of tearing away the wreck and rescuing those pinned beneath went on. Big muscular students wept aloud as they stood over the bodies of their dead friends and fellow workers or gazed helplessly upon the sufferings of their college mates, writhing in pain. To add to the horror the wreckage caught fire, but the flames were extinguished by the students after a hard fight.

There were many thrilling escapes and experiences. The injured are in at least twenty cases in very serious condition. A dozen or more have broken bones and in several cases there are compound fractures of two and even three limbs. The death list is expected to grow. Two of the injured died after being taken to the hospital.

While the work of rescue was going on, there arrived in the city over 900 cheering followers of the red and white of Indiana University at Bloomington. As the happy and excited students poured from the train, news of the tragedy to the black and gold of Purdue was received. Instantly all was sadness and sympathy. The throng melted into sorrowing groups that separated to search morgue and hospitals for friends, or took cars for the scene of the wreck to lend any possible aid.

Surgeons are still working over the injured, and it is believed the death list will be swelled to twenty.

TURRET SYSTEM CONDEMNED

Report of Experts Made to the Navy Department — Changes Necessary to Strengthen Big Battleships

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—A report has been made to the Navy Department by the experts who have been testing the government turret system, which will prevent the further construction of such turrets and will involve the Navy Department in a large expense to defray the costs of changes necessary to strengthen the big battleships of the Virginia class so that they may use their turrets with an ordinary degree of safety. The report shows that when the Kearsarge's four guns were fired simultaneously in one turret the upsetting force of the recoil was 2,300 tons. If the Virginia class turrets were built according to design, the force tending to upset the turrets would be no less than 9,000 tons. While the change recommended may make it impossible to resist this tremendous force, it is recommended that the four guns in the double turret shall not hereafter be discharged simultaneously.

DISTRESSING DEATH OF A CHILD.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. McMillen Deeply Bereaved—Funeral This Afternoon.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. McMillen will sympathize with them tenderly on the death of their little 4-year-old daughter, Mona, which occurred under rather distressing circumstances at the family residence on Third, between Walnut and Red Cross streets, yesterday morning. The child, with her little baby brother, aged about one year, were poisoned a few days ago either by water which ran into a cistern from a freshly painted roof or from other causes unknown. The illness of the children baffled the skill of the best physicans, and though everything possible was done for the little girl, death came at last to relieve the suffering. Her little brother is still almost at the point of death but strong hopes are entertained for his recovery.

The funeral of the little girl will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon from Grace M. E. church. Her remains will be borne to its last resting place in Oakdale cemetery, and six little girl companions of the child will be pall bearers.

THE PAIGE COMEDY COMPANY.

"Fight For a Fortune" Will be Presented Monday Night—Sale of Seats.

The sale of seats for the opening performance of the popular Paige Comedy Company at the Academy tomorrow night, when the favorite drama, "A Fight for a Fortune," will be given, opened yesterday morning at Plummer's, and the indications point to a crowded house at each performance during the week. The company will arrive this morning from Wilson. The Raleigh News and Observer said of one of the productions in that city during Fair Week:

This strongly balanced company presented "Rip Van Winkle" last night to a crowded house, with Thomas E. Depew as the "star." We have witnessed Joe Jefferson's version of this character, and we must confess we liked Mr. Depew's version fully as well. All the other characters were well taken and deserve a more extended notice, but space forbids. The specialties were of a very pleasing nature, and the large audience seemingly enjoyed them, judging by the loud and continued laughter, and when Miss Minnie Dupree gave her dance the house went wild and they called her back many times. This little lady is one of the finest "steppers" that will ever visit here, as we do not think she has an equal on the English or American stage.

This afternoon they have a matinee, when they present the "Country Boy" at 2:30 P. M., and to-night they play their farewell piece. Remember, matinee prices are 10 and 20 cents to all parts of the house.

DON'T SLIGHT THE UNDERWEAR.

Don't say that the old garments will have to do. No doubt they have thinned down until you can see through them anywhere. Have the kind that will admit of your braving the bitter weather of Winter without fear of discomfort. We sell the very garments you should have. When you examine them you will think so, too—but when you get them you will be sure of it.
